ACTIVE GRANGES.

What Some of Them In Illinois Find to Do.

Co-operation With the School—A Housekeepers' Carnival—Discussion of State Laws Affecting Farmers. Community Service—Grange Newspaper.

The following interesting items have to do with some of the granges in Winnebago county, Ill., and are here printed as suggesting lines of work in which other granges may well engage:

In Maple Grove grange a married people's chorus was organized to furnish music for every meeting. A young lady member who recently took the short course in domestic science in the state university told the grange about it. "The Need and Benefit of Farm Accounting" was discussed by a competent accountant employed by a farming implement factory. Maple Grove has started a grange newspaper called the Breezy News, its contents being of local interest. At one meeting a short talk was given by a man who came with the necessary ballots to show the women how to vote. Afterward the county agricultural adviser gave an interesting talk on "Selection of Seeds and Preparation of Seed Bed."

Westfield grange changed the time of meeting from the day meetings that have been held all winter to the evening sessions and listened to a timely talk on "Soil Problems" by the county agricultural adviser and a talk on "Road Improvement" by the superintendent of highways.

Harmony grange is to hold all its meetings at the consolidated school-house in its district. As there is a domestic science department, which they are free to use, it makes the work of entertainment very easy, a host and hostess being appointed who entertain as if in their own homes. It is doubtful if any grange in Illinois has established so close a relation to the school as has this grange. The result is being seen in the increased membership, which is largely teachers and scholars. At one meeting seventeen applications for membership were received, most of them being high school boys attending the consolidated school.

Riverside grange ladies gave a housekeepers' carnival at a recent meeting. One of them presided and introduced the several characters as they appeared. The first was Mrs. Epicure, who discussed "Three Meals a Day." Then Mrs. Orderly spoke about order and cleanliness. Mrs. Motherly talked about the care and bringing up of children. Mrs. Social dwelt on the social spirit in the rural community. The carnival ended with a tableau, "Work, For the Night Is Coming," by three ladies.

Burrill grange had quite a program of music and recitations not long ago, after which there was a talk on "Some of the Laws in This State Which Impose Hardship on Farmers." This was followed by the question box, of which this grange always makes a great feature.

Centerville grange recently had a meeting in the interests of the rural school, at which the program was in charge of three school directors, one from each district represented in the grange. The subject under discussion was "How Shall We Get More People to Attend the School Meetings?" The county judge also gave a talk on "Women and the Vote."

Gulfport Hope grange had its roll call responses at a recent meeting in the shape of ideas for improving the general conditions of the neighborhood. This was followed by a talk on how these improvements could be brought to pass. The oldest member of the grange then spoke on "Recent Improvements in the County," which will be a help to farmers.

Oak Grove grange recently had "The Practical Care of Horses and Cattle" discussed by a veterinarian of long experience.

County Line grange has a current events feature in which everything of special interest the world over is touched upon. It is a great help in keeping busy farmers posted. This grange has an orchestra among its members.—H. M. W. in Ohio Farmer.

Grange Growth in Pennsylvania. State Master William J. Crensy of Pennsylvania reports that the membership in the state is traveling rapidly toward 100,000 members. There has been a marked increase during the past few months. Pennsylvania is now probably next to New York, which has passed the 100,000 post. Ohio led last quarter (and has done so for several quarters) in the organization of new granges, which brings grange membership in the state close on the heels of Pennsylvania and Ohio—leaders of the grange army, the big triumvirate of organized farmers!

Worthy Master Crensy has been notified of his reappointment as chairman of the standing committee on insurance during the coming session of the national grange.

STATE NEWS

Mrs. Mary Miller Rust, 91 years old, died recently, was one of the oldest residents of the town of Dummerston and her ancestors were the founders of the town.

Gus Bergstrom, formerly of Rutland, but now of Bedford, Ind., found a pearl in a mussel in that place for which he has refused $300. It is said to be the largest pearl ever found in that vicinity.

As her sister, with whom she was fishing in Brattleboro, cast her line, the hook caught in Alma Selberg's eyelid, but fortunately did not penetrate the eyeball, and so did not injure the sight. The hook had to be cut out.

As James Gogan of Keene, N. H., was watching the molders in the Howe Scale works in Rutland pour off the molten iron at the foundry his left foot was spattered and some of the liquid ran into his shoe. He was very badly burned.

Dr. Henry Tucker, health officer for Brattleboro, says there has been no other season during his incumbency of the office when there has been so little in the way of contagious diseases reported to him as in the past six months. He has held the office nearly 10 years. There were but five or six cases to quarantine in June and there have been none thus far this month.

John R. Wilson of Montpelier has received an interesting testimonial of thanks from the school children of Honolulu, Hawaii, for sending them a sketch and memorial of the Civil War. It is signed by 36 children, made up of Japanese, Portuguese, Koreans, Chinese, and Hawaiians, whom the teacher, Nettie L. Scott, is striving to make American citizens, the sketch being used in connection with their study of American history. Mr. Wilson's niece is first assistant in the school. Mr. Wilson is secretary and treasurer of the Washington County Veterans' association.

One quarter acre of land in the southeast section of the Valley Fair grounds at Brattleboro is being prepared for the planting of alfalfa, which it is expected will be in condition at the time of the annual fair of the Valley Fair association for demonstration purposes. One-half of the plot will be treated with one kind of fertilizer and the other half with another brand, in order that a comparison of the merits of the two may be made. This will be done under the direction of A. W. Sweeton, of Brattleboro, county agricultural agent.

A. I. Burr of Ludlow was seriously injured in an automobile accident at Proctorsville village Sunday, while his companion, L. J. Fullam, also of Ludlow, escaped uninjured. Mr. Burr, owner of the car, was driving at a high rate of speed, when evidently something went wrong with the steering gear, and the car left the road and brought up with great force against a large tree. Both men were thrown some distance, Burr striking a stone wall. One of his arms was broken, several ribs were fractured, and he was otherwise bruised. The injured man was attended by Dr. G. D. Buxton of Proctorsville, and was taken later to his home. The car was badly wrecked.

Parts of the town of Bethel were visited by a fierce storm of wind, rain and lightning Friday afternoon. Only a few drops of rain fell at the village and there was little wind. At the quarries rain has seldom been known to fall so fast. Nearer the village in the same direction trees of considerable size were blown over, in some cases across the road. Leon Barnes and his sister were driving on the Camp Brook road when lightning struck a tree, scattering leaves and branches upon them and their horse, which jumped, throwing out the girl, but neither were injured.

Tony Burak, a Pole, employed in the Albion quarry of the Vermont Marble company at West Rutland, received quite serious injuries Saturday morning when part of a block of marble weighing nearly 1000 pounds, broke from a block which was being raised out of a part of the quarry and struck on his right ankle. He was taken to the Proctor hospital and it was later found necessary to amputate his foot. Burak was employed as a foreman in the quarry and realizing the danger had warned the other workmen away. It was a test block and was slightly cracked and when raised from the ground, the large piece broke off.

D. P. Wright is the first in Vermont to take up overhead irrigation, which he is trying out at his farm in Westminster on two acres of onions. The water is in a ravine below, where a dam has been built and a five-horse-power gasoline engine installed. The water is forced into the pipes on the hill at the rate of 47 gallons per acre per minute, equal in six hours to a rainfall of one-half inch. The pipes are run across the top of seven-foot posts set at regular intervals and those on each acre have 200 nozzles, which have to be turned to different angles by hand. It requires six positions of the nozzles to cover all the ground. The water will be used mostly during July when the onions are budding. Overhead irrigation is practiced a little in Massachusetts, but Mr. Wright is the pioneer in Vermont. His experiment is being watched by his neighbors with keen interest. The cost of installing the system is about $250.

WORDS FROM HOME

Statements That May Be Investigated. Testimony of Middlebury Citizens.

When a Middlebury citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Middlebury resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

S. E. Meekin, barber, Franklin St., Middlebury, says: "I had a severe attack of kidney complaint and my back pained me so intensely that I was unable to rest well. Knowing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box and they brought me prompt relief. It was not long before I was restored to good health and every symptom of the complaint was removed. I confirm all I said about Doan's Kidney Pills when I publicly endorsed them before. You may continue to use my statement."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Meekin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Fresh Tobacco Never Bites; Dry, Cut-up Tobacco Does

Only when the natural moisture dries out of tobacco can a "bite" get into it. In the Sickle plug, all the moisture, flavor and fragrance are pressed in and kept in by the natural leaf wrapper. Every pipeful you whittle off the plug is fresh—so you always get a slow-burning, cool, sweet, satisfying smoke.

If you want your tobacco already cut up for you, in packages, you have to be content with dry tobacco, that burns fast and hot, and bites your tongue.

That's why experienced smokers cut up their own tobacco, from the Sickle plug. They get more tobacco, because they don't pay for a package—and better tobacco, because it's always fresh.
